

6516208938.txt

XM is a service that provides quality programming that few, if any, traditional broadcasters can duplicate. In the USA we have a free market economy that is second to none and competition is the fuel. XM is the latest form of competition and traditional broadcasters should adjust their programming to compete instead of running to the government for protection.